

Pictons Solicitors LLP sponsors innovative local firm

DATE: SEPTEMBER 2007

Leading regional law firm Pictons is sponsoring an exciting new short film by local production company 'Five Feet Films'.

The film, called "The Bedfordshire Clanger", tells the story of a charity cyclist who gets lost in Bedfordshire and encounters various local characters in the process of regaining his motivation. When it is released on 22 September, at the Luton Library Theatre, it will provide audiences with a portrait of Bedfordshire and introduce them to some of the region's more unusual aspects.

The premiere will be attended by some of the film's performers and contributors, as well as local band 'Life and Times' and a troupe of Morris men, who will be performing songs and dances connected with the Bedfordshire Clanger.

Afterwards, the company plans to produce DVDs of the film and organise screenings at film festivals and smaller venues around the region.

Producer Linda Chirrey said: "We're really grateful for the generous support of Pictons and our other sponsors. It can be tough for a young film company like ours to get financial support, so we couldn't have done this without them."

Pictons partner Roger Talbot commented: "Pictons is proud of its deep roots in Bedfordshire, so we're delighted to have been able to contribute to this exciting project.

It's always good to work with dynamic start-up companies, but when they are also playing a role in promoting the region it's particularly enjoyable."

Pictons is also a sponsor of The Bedfordshire Clanger's official website www.thebedfordshireclanger.co.uk
